

Culture Declares Emergency

Mission:

Promoting the involvement of art and culture in combating the climate and ecological emergencies

What they do:

Culture Declares Emergency is concerned that the Earth's life-supporting systems are in imminent jeopardy, threatening human civilisation and the biodiversity it depends upon. The organisation encourages cultural groups to declare the same and work with it to:

- Transform the UK cultural sector to one that is regenerative and just
- Work collectively with other movements to ensure social & environmental justice for everyone
- Use our individual and collective voice to effect change
